Case Management Conference and Track Assignment Standards and Procedures

In accordance with Court Rule 5:5-6, Case Management Conferences in Civil Family Actions and 5:1-4(b) Procedures for Track Assignment, the following procedures shall guide the court in implementing these rules.

1. An initial case management conference shall be held for all Initial filings of divorce within 30 days after the Family Court receives the last permissible responsive pleading.
2. A notice shall be sent to all parties with the time and place of the initial case management. Included in the notice should be a blank case management order which may be completed by counsel and forwarded to court for review and approval.
3. In determining track assignments pursuant to Rule 5:1-4, the court shall consider an attorney's request for a track assignment. If all the attorneys agree on a track assignment, the case shall not be assigned to another track except good cause shown and after providing the opportunity for all attorneys to be heard on the matter. If the track assignment cannot be agreed upon by the attorneys, the court shall assign the track that affords the greatest degree of management and notify the parties of the track assignment.
4. A Case Management Conference may be conducted by a judge or staff designated by a judge. The conference may be held in person or by telephone.
5. Attorneys may submit to the court a Case Management Consent Order for review and approval. The Case Management Consent Order shall provide the court with all information required to effectively manage the case including dates for completion of all applicable issues outlined in the order and appropriate signatures.
6. The initial Case Management Conference shall result in a case management order which shall clearly depict, on the front of the order, the designated track for the case. The case management order shall also fix the schedule for discovery and any future case management conferences that may be necessary or trial dates when appropriate.
7. A case may be reassigned to a different track, other than the initial track assignment, on the court's motion or upon application of a party. Such an application may be made informally, but must be in writing to the court, copy to the other party, stipulating the reason(s) for the request for reassignment. The court shall make the final determination and notify the parties.
