5xx Fields

Chapter Summary

5xx Introduction

5xx fields
Use field 500 for general notes. Use the other 5xx fields for specialized notes. Use a separate 5xx field for each note. Use specialized notes if additional data or a distinctive word or phrase introducing the note provides access to the record.

According to AACR2 rule 21.29F, notes may be required to justify added entries. If you are inputting I-level records, enter all applicable notes according to AACR2, chapters 1–12, rules x.7. If you are inputting K-level records, most notes are optional. If you are inputting core-level records, include those notes that support identification of the item.

Printing profile
Your printing profile determines printing selection for 5xx fields. The print program selects printing notes according to three categories:

- Contents notes (field 505)
- Local notes (59x fields)
- General notes (the other 5xx fields)

Your printing profile determines which categories of notes are to print on selected types of cards (e.g., shelflist cards). For example, one institution may have all notes printed on all cards. Another institution may have 59x notes print only on shelflist cards and general notes (the other 5xx fields) print on all cards.

Printing notes
The following 5xx fields print as notes:

500	504	507	511	518	522	530	536	546	555	563	586
501	505	508	513	520	525	533	538	547	556	580	590

Display constants
The print program supplies some 5xx fields with a display constant. Display constants are words that are supplied by the print program when it prints the cards. The 1st indicator value determines the display constant for the field. Do not include display constants in the text of the fields.

Display constants may vary for AACR2 and pre-AACR2 records. (The code in the fixed-field element Desc determines whether a record is AACR2 or pre-AACR2.)

Note entry order for serial records

Enter notes in AACR2 order or according to CONSER practice. CONSER participants enter 5xx fields in ascending order.

Note entry order for nonserial records

Enter notes in AACR2 order or as prescribed by other approved descriptive convention manuals such as Archival Moving Image Materials: A Cataloging Manual. For example, a "with" note is the final note prescribed by AACR2. Therefore, if a "with" note is applicable, enter field 501 as the final 5xx field. (If field 020 is present, it prints following all 5xx fields.)

Notes generated from other fields

OCLC generates notes from fields other than 5xx fields. Whether notes from other fields print can depend on indicator values you use in the field. Use of a field is often dependent on the type of material and format. In general, fields print in the following order with the noted stipulation:

Field	Stipulation
773	1st indicator value must be 0 Value in Desc must be i or a
321	No stipulation
310	No stipulation
Freq	If 310 is not present

‡c   Name of granting institution (NR)   Optional/Optional

‡d   Year degree granted (NR)   Optional/Optional

‡g   Miscellaneous information (R)   Optional/Optional

‡o   Dissertation identifier (R)   Optional/Optional

Definition   A note that gives the designation of an academic dissertation or thesis and the institution to which it was presented. Use field 502 also to include the degree for which the author was a candidate, name of the granting institution or faculty, the year it was granted, and the dissertation identifier. Dissertation information may be encoded as a note in subfield ‡a or parsed into specific subfields.

Use field 500 for other notes indicating the relationship between the item being cataloged and the author's dissertation or thesis (e.g., Originally presented as...). Use field 500 also for notes concerning abstracts, abridgements or revision of theses. See section 3.1, "Theses and Dissertations," for more information.

Guidelines   You may use field 502 with either a single subfield ‡a or multiple subfields: ‡b, ‡c, ‡d, and ‡g (subfield ‡o can be used with either option). Follow local practice and the guidelines below.

Single subfield ‡a

502   Thesis (Ph. D.)--University of Louisville, 1997.

502   Thesis (Ph. D.)--University of Louisville, 1997 ‡o U 58.4033.

Multiple subfields

502   ‡b Ph. D. ‡c University of Louisville ‡d 1997.

502   ‡b Ph. D. ‡c University of Louisville ‡d 1997 ‡o U 58.4033.

Regardless of the choice of subfield practice (single ‡a or multiple), follow these guidelines.

1. Follow MARC 21 input conventions, which specify a period at the end of the field.
2. LCRI 1.0C still applies so that an abbrevation consisting of more than a single letter is treated as a word separated by a space from preceding or succeeding words or initials, e.g., "Ph. D." not "Ph.D."

If using multiple subfields, follow these guidelines in addition to those above.

1. The thesis designation is omitted; it should not be input in ‡b or ‡g.

2. Punctuation separating elements is omitted (no parentheses around the type of degree, no dash separating the type of degree and institution, and no comma separating the institution and date).

502   Karl Schmidt's thesis (doctoral)--Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität, Munich, 1965.

Definition	A note about a bibliography, discography, filmography, webliography, and/or other bibliographic references in an item. Use field 504 also to indicate the presence of a bibliography, etc., in accompanying material that is described in the record. 	Use field 500 (General Note) for regulations, statutes and tables of cases. Enter notes in field 500 if a note mentions contents in addition to the bibliography and the bibliography is not deemed sufficiently extensive to warrant a separate note. Use field 504, however, when the presence of an index is mentioned in a bibliography note. In cases of doubt, use field 504 rather than field 500.

Definition	A formatted contents note. Contents notes may be encoded at one of two levels: basic or enhanced. Contents notes contain the titles of separate works or parts of an item. They may also include statements of responsibility associated with the works or parts. Volume numbers and other sequential designations are included in a contents note, but chapter numbers are omitted.
Guidelines
Archival material and MIX	For material under archival control and mixed materials, use field 505 for the table of contents of a finding aid. Use field 505 also for the physical form (box, folder, etc.).
1st Indicator	Display constant controller. A value that controls the generation of the display constant preceding the note.

> 0 Contents. A complete contents note for an item. Use to generate the display constant Contents:.

The title in an enhanced contents note (2nd indicator value 0).

505 00 ‡t Thematic index [of Spohr's symphonies] -- ‡t Symphony in F major, no. 4, op. 86 : ‡t Die Weihe der Töne -- ‡t Symphony in G major, no. 6, op. 116 : ‡t Historische Symphonie -- ‡t Symphony in C major, no. 7, op. 121 : ‡t Irdisches und Göttliches in Menschenleben.

Do not use subfield ‡g to separate initial articles from titles in field 505. Initial articles in titles should be included in subfield ‡t when inputting an enhanced contents note. The correct transcription of formal contents notes is governed by:

- AACR2 rule 2.7B18 and its Library of Congress Rule Interpretation
- The corresponding contents note rules (and Library of Congress Rule Interpretations) in subsequent AACR2 chapters

505 00 ‡t The final voyage of the liquid sky.

Data in contents notes were never intended to be controlled access points. To provide access to such data, use the appropriate 7xx fields. If appropriate, create controlled name/title entries in fields 700, 710, or 711; or uniform title entries in field 730. Uncontrolled related and analytical titles, which may be coded to eliminate initial articles, belong in field 740.

In OCLC Connexion, field 505, subfield ‡t appears in only three indexes:

- Notes (nt:) and Title (ti:) are keyword indexes in which the is a stopword that is ignored.
- In the Title phrase (ti=) index, the system ignores the initial articles the, a, and an in field 505, subfield ‡t. For example, the contents note "‡t The final voyage of the liquid sky" may be searched as "ti=final voyage of the liquid sky". Initial articles in languages other than English will not be ignored in field 505, subfield ‡t.

‡u Uniform Resource Identifier

The Uniform Resource Identifier (URI), for example a URL or URN, provides electronic access data in a standard syntax. Use for automated access to an electronic item using one of the Internet protocols or by resolution of a URN. Repeat subfield if digital object has multiple identifiers (URIs).

Note: Do not confuse the spacing characters listed below with their long-valid non-spacing counterparts. Use of the spacing characters will be limited almost exclusively to URLs.

Entry method	Name	Character	Alternative entry (hex value)
Enter as character or hex value	Spacing circumflex/ circumflex accent	^	%5E

Enter as hex value only	vertical bar	n/a	%7C

1   Because the Spacing Underscore may cause problems with MARC output, users may prefer to continue entering it with the hexidecimal value %5F.

Printing

Field 505 prints as a note. The 1st indicator controls display constants. Subfields ‡g, ‡r and ‡t print as input. Subfield ‡u does not print. See "5xx Introduction" for more information.

Definition	A note that gives citations or references to published bibliographic descriptions or reviews of an item. Use to specify where an item has been cited or reviewed.
	Use field 510 for citations or references in a brief form (e.g., using generally recognizable abbreviations). Use field 520 (Summary, Etc. Note) for the actual text of a published description.
	Use a separate 510 field for each title when the title of the source of the index, abstract, review, etc. changes. When coverage changes, thus requiring a different value in the 1st indicator, add a new 510 field with appropriate dates to the record. Repeat field 510 also for multiple source citations.
	Use field 510 when the indexing and/or review is external to the item represented by the bibliographic record. Use field 555 (Cumulative Index/Finding Aids Note) when an index is an integral part of the item.
BKS, REC, SCO	For books and music, use for references to published descriptions of the item (e.g., descriptions of rare materials recorded in a brief, standardized format) or reviews (e.g., reviews in professional literature).
Serials	For serials, use to specify publications in which a serial has been indexed and/or abstracted and the dates of coverage, if known. The indexing and abstracting services referenced are primarily those issued for serials. However, use also for certain monographic titles, particularly those that are standard reference tools in a subject area or that cover periods of time not included in continuing publications.
VIS	For unpublished visual materials or graphic items collectively controlled, use for references to published descriptions of the work or collection. Use also for citations to reviews of projected visual materials.
MIX	For mixed materials, use for references to publications in which abstracts, citations, descriptions or indexes of the described materials have appeared.

1st Indicator Coverage/location in a source. Whether or not the field identifies the specific location of the citation. For serials, use the value in the 1st indicator to indicate the type of coverage given the item by the abstracting and indexing service. In pre-AACR2 visual materials records, the 1st indicator value may be blank (ƀ). The 1st indicator controls the generation of the display constant preceding the note.

‡u Uniform Resource Identifier

The Uniform Resource Identifier (URI), for example a URL or URN, provides electronic access data in a standard syntax. Use for automated access to an electronic item using one of the Internet protocols or by resolution of a URN. Repeat subfield if digital object has multiple identifiers (URIs).

Substituting hexadecimal notation for diacritics and special characters in Uniform Resource Identifiers. When recording a URI in subfield ‡u, you may enter most of the spacing characters listed below as either characters or their hexidecimal equivalents. Consult the table below.

Note: Do not confuse the spacing characters listed below with their long-valid non-spacing counterparts. Use of the spacing characters will be limited almost exclusively to URLs.

Entry method	Name	Character	Alternative entry (hex value)
Enter as character or hex value	Spacing circumflex/ circumflex accent	^	%5E
	Spacing underscore/low line[1]	_	%5F
	Spacing grave/ grave accent	`	%60

Substituting hexadecimal notation for diacritics and special characters in Uniform Resource Identifiers. When recording a URI in subfield ‡u, you may enter most of the spacing characters listed below as either characters or their hexidecimal equivalents. Consult the table below.

Note: Do not confuse the spacing characters listed below with their long-valid non-spacing counterparts. Use of the spacing characters will be limited almost exclusively to URLs.

Entry method	Name	Character	Alternative entry (hex value)
Enter as character or hex value	Spacing circumflex/ circumflex accent	^	%5E
	Spacing underscore/low line[1]	_	%5F
	Spacing grave/ grave accent	`	%60
	Spacing tilde/tilde	~	%7E
Enter as hex value only	vertical bar	n/a	%7C

Definition	A note that describes an item that is a reproduction of an original material. Describe the original item in the main portion of the bibliographic record and data relevant to the reproduction as a note in field 533 when the data differs from the information describing the original. Use whenever you choose to have the description reflect the original and the note reflect information about the copy. See section 3.2, "Reproductions and Original Microform Publications," for more information.
Mixed materials	Use field 533 for information describing a copy of a record unit when the agency describing the materials possesses only a copy and, in accordance with conventions, the original is described in the main portion of the control record. Use field 533 in conjunction with field 535 (Location of Originals/Duplicates Note) which indicates the repository holding the original.
Electronic resources	Use field 533 for information describing a remotely accessed electronic reproduction of a work previously published in printed form, including electronic books, as outlined in Library of Congress Rule Interpretation 1.11A. Apply this practice only when the reproduction manifestation is represented by its own bibliographic record, separate from any record for the original print version. Also, see section 3.2, "Reproductions and Original Microform Publications," Cataloging Electronic Resources: OCLC-MARC Coding Guidelines (http://www.oclc.org/ support/documentation/worldcat/cataloging/electronicresources/default.htm), and LCRI 1.11A for more information.
Separate records vs. single record	Creating separate records for an item is preferable when both remote and directly tangible (non-remote) versions exist. When cataloging digital versions of print materials, generally create separate records for the digital version of an item. For more information about digital masters, see the Digital Library Federation Registry of Digital Masters Record Creation Guidelines (http://www.diglib.org/collections/ reg/DigRegGuide200705.htm).

‡u Uniform Resource Identifier

The Uniform Resource Identifier (URI), for example a URL or URN, provides electronic access data in a standard syntax. Use this data for automated access to an electronic item using one of the Internet protocols. Repeat subfield if digital object has multiple identifiers (URIs).

Substituting hexadecimal notation for diacritics and special characters in Uniform Resource Identifiers. When recording a URI in subfield ‡u, you may enter most of the spacing characters listed below as either characters or their hexidecimal equivalents. Consult the table below.

Note: Do not confuse the spacing characters listed below with their long-valid non-spacing counterparts. Use of the spacing characters will be limited almost exclusively to URLs.

Entry method	Name	Character	Alternative entry (hex value)
Enter as character or hex value	Spacing circumflex/ circumflex accent	^	%5E
	Spacing underscore/low line[1]	_	%5F
	Spacing grave/ grave accent	`	%60
	Spacing tilde/tilde	~	%7E
Enter as hex value only	vertical bar	n/a	%7C

1 Because the Spacing Underscore may cause problems with MARC output, users may prefer to continue entering it with the hexidecimal value %5F.

‡3 Materials specified

The part of the described materials to which the field applies.

‡5 Institution to which field applies

MARC code of the institution or organization that holds the copy to which the data in the field applies. Data in the field may not apply to the universal description of the item or may apply universally to the item, but be of interest only to the location cited. See MARC Code List for Organizations (http://www.loc.gov/marc/organizations/orgshome.html).

‡8 Field link and sequence number   Data that identifies linked fields and may also propose a sequence for the linked fields. Subfield ‡8 may be repeated to link a field to more than one other group of fields. You are responsible for creating and maintaining the link (The system does not create or maintain these links). The structure and syntax of subfield ‡8 is:

> 541   ‡8 [linking number].[sequence number]\[field link type]

> 541   ‡8 1.1\a ‡3 Public School and College Authority and Trade School and Junior College Authority project files ‡a Finance Dept. ‡c Transferred

Note: Subfield ‡8 is defined differently in field 852, where it is used to sequence related holdings records.

Subfield ‡8 has three parts:

The linking number is required. It occurs in subfield ‡8 in all fields to be linked (fields containing the same linking number are linked).

The sequence number is optional and preceded by a period (.). It is used to indicate the order in which the linked fields display (lower sequence numbers display before higher ones). If used, it must occur in all subfields ‡8 containing the same linking number.

The field link type is required and preceded by a reverse slash (\). It is a code indicating the reason for the link and it follows the linking number (or sequence number, if present). Field link type is required except when subfield ‡8 is used to link and sequence 85x-87x holdings fields. These are the valid codes:

a (Action). Used to link one or more fields with another field to which the processing or reference actions relate. This code is typically used only when there is more than one 5xx field that relates to another 5xx field.

c (Constituent item). Used in a record for a collection or a single item consisting of identifiable constituent units, to link the fields relating to the constituent units. All other non-linked data elements in the record pertain to the collection or item as a whole.

r (Reproduction). Used in a record for a reproduction to identify fields linked because they contain information concerning only the reproduction. Other descriptive information in the record pertains to the original (with the exception of field 007 (Physical Description fixed field), fixed field Form, field 245 subfield ‡h (Title Statement / Medium), and field 533 (Reproduction Note)).

x (General sequencing). Used in a record to make a link between fields to show a sequence between them. The sequence could be one that orders the pieces of a long field that has been broken up, indicates the relative importance of fields within the sequence, or is used for some other sequencing purpose. Use of the sequence number in subfield ‡8 is required when this code is used.

‡u Uniform Resource Identifier   Uniform Resource Identifier (URI), for example a URL or URN, which provides electronic access data in a standard syntax. This data can be used for automated access to an electronic item using one of the Internet protocols. In field 381, subfield ‡u is used to record the location of electronically accessible source information.

Substituting hexadecimal notation for diacritics and special characters in Uniform Resource Identifiers. When recording a URI in subfield ‡u, you may enter most of the spacing characters listed below as either characters or their hexidecimal equivalents. Consult the table below.

Note: Do not confuse the spacing characters listed below with their long-valid non-spacing counterparts. Use of the spacing characters will be limited almost exclusively to URLs.

‡u Uniform Resource Identifier

The Uniform Resource Identifier (URI), for example a URL or URN, provides electronic access data in a standard syntax. Use for automated access to an electronic item using one of the Internet protocols or by resolution of a URN. Repeat subfield if digital object has multiple identifiers (URIs).

Repeat subfield ‡u if the digital object has mulitple identifiers (URIs).

> 583   deacidify ‡c 19860501 ‡u http://128.227.54.151/cgi-bin/conserve/rara.pl

Substituting hexadecimal notation for diacritics and special characters in Uniform Resource Identifiers. When recording a URI in subfield ‡u, you may enter most of the spacing characters listed below as either characters or their hexidecimal equivalents. Consult the table below.

Note: Do not confuse the spacing characters listed below with their long-valid non-spacing counterparts. Use of the spacing characters will be limited almost exclusively to URLs.

Entry method	Name	Character	Alternative entry (hex value)
Enter as character or hex value	Spacing circumflex/ circumflex accent	^	%5E
	Spacing underscore/low line[1]	_	%5F
	Spacing grave/ grave accent	`	%60
	Spacing tilde/tilde	~	%7E
Enter as hex value only	vertical bar	n/a	%7C

1 Because the Spacing Underscore may cause problems with MARC output, users may prefer to continue entering it with the hexidecimal value %5F.

‡8 Field link and sequence number

Data that identifies linked fields and may also propose a sequence for the linked fields. Subfield ‡8 may be repeated to link a field to more than one other group of fields. You are responsible for creating and maintaining the link (The system does not create or maintain these links). The structure and syntax of subfield ‡8 is:

583   ‡8 [linking number].[sequence number]\[field link type]

Note: Subfield ‡8 is defined differently in field 852, where it is used to sequence related holdings records.

Subfield ‡8 has three parts:

The linking number is required. It occurs in subfield ‡8 in all fields to be linked (fields containing the same linking number are linked).

The sequence number is optional and preceded by a period (.). It is used to indicate the order in which the linked fields display (lower sequence numbers display before higher ones). If used, it must occur in all subfields ‡8 containing the same linking number.

The field link type is required and preceded by a reverse slash (\). It is a code indicating the reason for the link and it follows the linking number (or sequence number, if present). Field link type is required except when subfield ‡8 is used to link and sequence 85x-87x holdings fields. These are the valid codes:

a (Action). Used to link one or more fields with another field to which the processing or reference actions relate. This code is typically used only when there is more than one 5xx field that relates to another 5xx field.

c (Constituent item). Used in a record for a collection or a single item consisting of identifiable constituent units, to link the fields relating to the constituent units. All other non-linked data elements in the record pertain to the collection or item as a whole.

r (Reproduction). Used in a record for a reproduction to identify fields linked because they contain information concerning only the reproduction. Other descriptive information in the record pertains to the original (with the exception of field 007 (Physical Description fixed field), fixed field Form, field 245 subfield ‡h (Title Statement / Medium), and field 533 (Reproduction Note)).

x (General sequencing). Used in a record to make a link between fields to show a sequence between them. The sequence could be one that orders the pieces of a long field that has been broken up, indicates the relative importance of fields within the sequence, or is used for some other sequencing purpose. Use of the sequence number in subfield ‡8 is required when this code is used.

Definition	A differentiable note of local interest. Field 599 is not part of the standard MARC format. It is not retained in the master record. Field 599 is retained in archive records, institution records, exported records, and OCLC-MARC records. Use field 599 for notes you judge to be inappropriate or unnecessary for the master record. Use for notes pertaining only to the copy of the item located in your institution (e.g., accessions information, local holdings or receipt dates). Generally, use other note fields for notes applying to all copies of an item.
	You may define field 599 according to your needs for local processing information. Field 599 provides more flexibility than field 590 (Local Note) because it includes indicators and subfield codes. For example, you may use field 590 for undifferentiated local notes and field 599 for differentiated local notes.
